

Eviction Cases

An eviction case is a lawsuit brought to recover possession of real property, often by a landlord against a tenant. A claim for rent may be joined with an eviction case if the amount of rent due and unpaid is not more than $20,000, excluding statutory interest and court costs but including attorney fees, if any.

Notice to Vacate

If the occupant is a tenant under a written lease or oral rental agreement, the landlord must give at least three days' written notice to vacate the premises before the landlord files an eviction, unless the parties have contracted for a shorter or longer period of time in a written lease or agreement.

The notice to vacate shall be given in person, by mail, or by affixing the notice to the inside of the main entry door and must be unconditional. Notice by mail may be by regular mail, registered mail, or by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the premises in question.

If the dwelling has no mailbox and has a keyless bolting device, alarm system, or dangerous animal that prevents the landlord from entering the premises, the landlord may securely affix the notice on the outside of the main entry door. Texas Property Code Sec. 24.005
